

Bryan Park Circuit Race, Richmond VA

Sunday, August 16th 2015

USA Cycling Permit pending

Event Description

Bryan Park,
4308 Hermitage Rd.
Richmond, VA 23227

This is the 10th annual Bryan Park Circuit Race. The course is on a 1.5 enclosed paved road, with this year there being a change in the course. At the fork you will be going left and then making a hard right to get back on the normal course and then continuing with the hard downhill left into the backside of the course. Everything else about the course will be as it has been in the past with a slight climb on the backside and then lefthand turn into a downhill that comes back uphill into the start/finish. For those who are familiar with Bryan Park with either the training series or the Working Man's Crit, the addition of the outer loop adds a couple of long straight away sections to hammer through. So this course suits those who want to sprint out of the corners and try and break up the field and those that can suffer through the pain of long straight aways and turn up the gas.

Parking will be directly across from the soccer fields. Toilets will be by the soccer field as well.
